FEI SPORTS FORUM

The 11th edition of the FEI Sports Forum 2022 was held in person at the International Institute for Management Development (IMD) in Lausanne (SUI) on 25 and 26 April.

The first day of the FEI Sports Forum 2022 had a prominent focus on the Paris 2024 Olympic and Paralympic Regulations with individual sessions for each discipline.

The final session focussed on the FEI World Championships 2022 with presentations from each of the Organising Committees – Herning (DEN), Pratoni del Vivaro (ITA) and Verona (ITA) – followed by detailed insights into the FEI’s digital and social media strategy to promote and engage fans.

The morning of the second day of the Sports Forum began with the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding with the International Grooms Association (see below), leading into a session on Events Minimum Standards, while the afternoon was dedicated to consultation around the full Rules Revisions for the FEI Veterinary Regulations, FEI Eventing, Dressage and Para Dressage Rules.

All information regarding the FEI Sports Forum 2022 can be found on the dedicated FEI Sports Forum 2022 Hub, including:

- All the sessions available to watch on Replay
- Timetable, supporting documents, presentations, biographies for all the panellists as well as session wrap-ups
- Executive summaries from each session (NEW!)

FEI CELEBRATES 100 YEARS TOGETHER

On 26 April, the FEI held a special evening to celebrate the organisation’s 100 years with all the delegates from the FEI Sports Forum 2022 including National Federation and equestrian association representatives, Athletes, Officials, Committee Members and Grooms. Also in attendance were delegations from the International Olympic Committee (IOC), Association of Summer Olympic International Federations (ASOIF), World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA), and a number of summer and winter Olympic sports and local sporting authorities.

Following a warm welcome by FEI President Ingmar De Vos, IOC President Thomas Bach gave a key note speech (see excerpts below and watch the full speech here) in which he reminded guests of how special equestrian sport is for the Olympic movement. Bach referred to the FEI’s good governance credentials, the community’s positive influence on the greater sporting sphere and the important steps taken by the FEI to embrace Agenda 2020+5 to ensure equestrian remains relevant in society and within the Olympic movement.

"Already our founder Pierre de Coubertin described the uniqueness of equestrian sport in the following way: "Consider the sport of horse riding and see how well it portrays life. No other equals it in this ... The IOC is happy and proud to have FEI as a partner who has truly embraced Olympic Agenda 2020+5. Whether it is your initiatives in strengthening sustainability; making FEI a "gender champion"; promoting animal welfare; leading by example in good governance; or showing solidarity with the equestrian community in Ukraine suffering from the war. These and many more examples demonstrate the strong standing of FEI in our Olympic community."

The 350 guests were also treated to an uplifting and memorable surprise when when HRH Princess Haya Bint Al Hussein, former FEI President from 2006 to 2014, appeared live and via weblink during the Official Ceremony, where she reflected on the wonderful community spirit which makes the FEI Family so unique.

Guests and longstanding equestrian community members, including former Olympic Champions, Committee members and HQ staff also shared anecdotes during the Ceremony from their experiences, relating the incredible characters and bond between equestrians around the world.

For FEI President Ingmar De Vos, this was "a fitting conclusion to a year-long campaign which has been all about community, strong values and a dedication to a unique sport and way of life. This campaign – Shaping the future together since 1921 – which began last May in the midst of the Covid-19 pandemic and was activated around the world to celebrate the past, the present and the future, can now come to an end and we can turn our full attention to the next 100 YEARS!"

FEI FORMALLY RECOGNISES THE INTERNATIONAL GROOMS ASSOCIATION

FEI President Ingmar De Vos and Founding Director of the International Grooms Association™ (IGA) Lucy Katan made history at the FEI Sports Forum on 26 April 2022 with the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU). The MOU marked the first official partnership between the FEI and an international grooms association, providing grooms with a voice for the first time within the decision-making process.

An independent not-for-profit professional association, the IGA has been established to achieve greater representation and career recognition for grooms, as well as to improve their working conditions, especially at equestrian events where long hours are the norm.

The support provided by the IGA will include guidance on employment rules, answers to commonly asked questions on recruitment, a toolkit for grooms working freelance, and a job board, to name a few. A section on well-being on the IGA website, International Grooms Minds, will ensure that grooms also have a strong emotional support system in place to assist them in their daily work.

"Today's signing of the MOU is the culmination of many years of discussion and planning and marks the start of a new era for international grooms," FEI President Ingmar De Vos said.

Grooms from all over the world can now become an IGA member through the Association's official website: <https://internationalgrooms.org/>

Each FEI discipline will also have four to six representatives working within the industry to promote the status of international grooms. These representatives will be asked to mentor new grooms, creating a support hub for those new to the scene.
