

2017 Validation Height Certificates

All validation certificates from 2016 have expired.

These certificates were given to validate that the height in the passport had been verified as correct.

This certificate stopped any objections being lodged against the pony.

A pony that does not have a valid validation certificate, can be called up for measurement should an objection be lodged against it.

- If your pony was validated – re-validation is voluntary
- If you chose not to re-validate you may be called for a re-measure at any point in time
- If you do re-validate you do not have to undergo any objection measurement
- At the official measuring anybody wanting validation can book a slot.
- Life heights no longer exist.
